In my sheet I will have about 4-5 columns and the range I need to enter values into would be for example A10, B10, C10, D10, E10, F10, G10, H10, I10. I've seen a couple similar questions already answered here but I'm still pretty new to Excel so the answers didn't really help me. I've also looked at the function FillDown and this is exactly what I need but I don't think it would work for me since I'm looking to enter into all adjacent cells? A: The formula you are looking for is =IF\(ISNUMBER\(INDEX\(SAS10:SHS10,MATCH\(SAS10:SAS10:SHS10,0\)\)\), "X", ""\) This will output the string "X" in the cells you are interested in. You can change the cell references to match your cells. The macro should be Sub Sample\(\) With Range\("A10:I10"\)](#)
