communication in the American Revolutionary War. She was ordered from the U.S. privateer master William Hull at Norfolk, Virginia by Commander Richard Felton in command of the 80-gun. Hull sailed to Bermuda, and from there transported the three cutters to New York where they arrived in October 1764. She was launched in July 1765 and renamed HMS Alert. She was taken to Boston and then sold there in 1766. The second HMS Lewellen was a 74-gun third rate launched in 1775. She was re-named HMS Mobius on 9 May 1783 and used as a prison hulk at Woolwich. She was broken up in 1791.
