“Throughout the creation of Fifa 22 Free Download we have been actively engaging with real-life athletes at every level. ‘HyperMotion Technology’ was created by taking the data from the 22 real-life players we used and using it to make the most authentic and intelligent version of the world's most popular sports video game. We want to use that same data to make FIFA the world's most attractive, accessible and authentic football game experience.” “At first we were apprehensive about starting with the real-life players because we were working with data that has very specific limitations, such as the fact that we couldn’t place people into the game to directly reflect 22 different top European footballers playing for their national team. But the more we started to play with it, the more we realised what a treasure trove of information this data was, and the more excited we became about the possibilities.” “The real-life players were great. Their data was very close to the ‘true’ data in terms of accuracy, but we quickly understood that it also came with its own unique challenges, notably that the players were necessarily ‘hackers’. We believe that this is just a small part of the future for sports gaming, and that the teams at EA, with our incredible game engines and engineering skills, will push the technology further in the years to come.” “We know that every living, breathing, unique human being in the world has 22 toes, the same as we have; the same as the 22 players we used. We knew that we had to make the game more than just a game. It had to be a game that reflected the reality of the people who play it. We have observed how physically-fit, cool-headed and talented our real-life players were, and we know that what we’re doing is for the sport and for society at large.” “It’s not just about playing with our real-life players in clubs and stadiums around the world, it’s also about tapping into the passion of the sport and creating an emotional connection with the players who play it. We want to work with the players directly, not just be a faceless company some distance away. We’re doing everything we can to make the game a personal one. We’re showing our players live at events around the world in front of paying
