Story System

As the ruling religion of the Lands Between, Tarnishedism stands firm against the hostile forces of the World Above. The story of Tarnishedism unfolds primarily in episodes set in the game's world of Elden Ring. The episodes relate how Tarnishedism overcame the will of the World Above, and thus how the party, or a hero tasked to protect the faith from enemies of Tarnishedism, fought for it. However, as the world of Elden Ring is a vast and endless fantasy world, the story featured in the game is only a part of the overall story. Players can connect the various story episodes, and the main events of the story of Elden Ring, through a system unlike any other, and they will be able to experience the story of Tarnishedism on their own. Players will also be able to see the main events in the game, and learn the story of the legend the way they want.

Archetypes

The player characters inherit either of three archetypes: the Protector, the Avenger, and the Herald. Depending on which archetype their character fits in, they will receive different skill, service, and attribute points at the start of the story. The Archetype system also determines the background of the player characters. During the game, the types of archetypes characters can get will change.

- [Auto-Player Select] Players will be divided into groups of 3. During a game, whichever is "out" will be automatically selected for participation. As a result, you can save time by not waiting for the other player's input. - [One-Time Turn] Each game begins with a fixed set of maps and monsters. As each set is cleared, it will be replaced by another, and gradually the game will begin to deplete. When it becomes clear the game will continue indefinitely. - [Action Points] When a monster's attention is focused on you, you can make use of Action Points to attack. The Action Points will be depleted when your attack is successful, and will be replenished when you use a Break. - [Limit Break] A Limit Break is a method to break out of Action Points depletion. While using a Limit Break, you are able to charge up your Break gauge. When the gauge is full, you will be able to use another Action Point to attack. - [Auto-Break] When there are no Action Points in your Break gauge and no monsters are attacking, your character can Break. When your character is broken, your turn will be over. - [Break Gauge] The Break gauge is used to break out of Action Points depletion. While using a Limit Break or when a monster is not attacking, charging up your Break gauge will reduce Action Points depletion. - [Destroying Monsters] When you are successful in causing your character to break in battle, you can use the game material gained to buy weapons and armor. The degree to which your character is destroyed will also be used to improve the quality of your equipment. - [Equipment] Depending on the character's strength, they may have the opportunity to select from various equipment to improve their performance. After they are equipped, you can use the character's special skills to activate it. - [Shrine] A Shrine will be placed in the world randomly each time the game begins. The shrine will hold a special item, and when purchased by another character, can be used to improve the quality of the items. - [Tactics] During a battle, make a quick judgment of the battle situation in order to strategize. - [Skills] Depending on the character's current equipment, it will have special skills acts until after the expiration of the three-year period; rather, it is limited to matters that occurred during the three years immediately preceding the filing of the discrimination claim. -10- assessing the merits of the plaintiff's case under the totality of the circumstances, we conclude that the district court properly found that there was insufficient evidence of pretext. The third issue is whether the district court erred in failing to grant summary judgment on Ms. Shedd's retaliation claim. The court concluded that the evidence regarding the company's seniority plan, the timing of Ms. Shedd's transfers, and district meetings gave sufficient evidence of pretext to survive summary judgment. The court went on to conclude that Ms. Shedd established a prima facie case of retaliation. The court then concluded, without further analysis, that "plaintiff ha[d] established the requisite causal connection between the protected activity and the alleged retaliation." McBurney v.
