(c) 2015-2018, The OverworksUDL: Three-point loss puts end to Hamilton's run BUFFALO - Jordyn Collette looked to be in control in the second half, but instead was watching her opportunity slip away. Collette scored a career-high 26 points to lead the Ulysses State women's basketball team to a 78-46 loss to defending champion Hamilton on Saturday at the McConnell's College Arena. The Panthers finished 8-10 overall and 3-5 in the Queen's Athletic Conference. It was their fifth consecutive loss and the third in four games. The final three points were as nothing to Collette's fast break. Collette forced a fumble and was able to sprint to the other end to dunk it in the extra frame. "Right after I got the dunk, I just looked at the court, and saw them pointing out the end zone, and to me, that was going to be the final touchdown," Collette said. "We played really well for the first half, but we just couldn't come back when we needed." Despite Ulysses' success in the first half, second-leading scorer Morgan Vetter admitted being sluggish in the third quarter that helped Hamilton open a 28-point lead in the fourth. The senior guard said they first looked at themselves in the mirror, then talked it over at halftime. The Panthers battled back in the last six minutes of the fourth, scoring on three straight buckets to make it a four-point game. "We just weren't getting offense," Vetter said. "We were being reactive instead of being aggressive. On defense, we were playing a couple of guys out, and that was totally unacceptable. We just haven't been playing well enough to get the win." It appeared the Panthers played a stronger second half in Madison, Wis., when they beat Wisconsin Valley Conference champion Madison to start their league season.
