This data is sorted by customer and is thus not a simple sort by date. The page design has pagination in the form of a "Previous" and "Next" link at the top right of the page. However, when I run the page, the page doesn't remember my selected results from a previous request. If I run the page for the second time, the table refreshes, and what had been selected as the last selection is displayed. However, the "Next" button doesn't take me to the first record on the page. I've ruled out whether this is a problem with the data e79caf774b
