Ivy Grace from the.The present invention relates to a method and apparatus for dynamically determining the number of articles remaining in an article storage bin or the like, including for example a warehouse, a store or a distribution system, especially as a result of automatically detecting the weight of the articles within the bin. In accordance with the present invention, articles are provided with a tag or other mark which makes it possible to identify the articles even when they are packed in bulk, or stored within bulk storage containers or the like. When articles are to be sold in large containers, it is advantageous to use this invention to monitor the number of articles remaining in the bins. Moreover, it is necessary to be able to take into account the weight of the articles as they are stored or transported and, since it is necessary in such situations to be able to monitor automatically the number of articles and their weight, an objective of the present invention is to develop a method and an apparatus of this kind which can be used with articles which can be transported and stored individually, as well as in bulk.
