What about installing Visual Studio 2013 Update 2? I would like to have a single C# application to run on 64-bit Windows 7 and 64-bit Windows Server 2008 R2.Q: How to search by keywords to retrieve only matching files with find command? I am trying to search for specific keywords (eg test) in all files (.) in a specific directory (/demo/) $ find . -name "test" This returns all matching files in the directory, but is there any way to limit the search to files matching only the search word, not the full search string? I want to search for only those files with test as a keyword. A: I have created a custom command for this: `-$ cat findtest.awk /~/ { if (match("$2", "test") == 1) { printf("%s ", $2) next } } /~/ { if (match("$2", "test") == 1) { if (input == "") { printf("%s ", input) next } input = ""`
