DP Translator is a full featured application that is designed to be used as a language translator between major languages. The main purpose of the software is to provide an interface for users to quickly translate messages between large numbers of languages.Q: Select where timestamp is a specific number of milliseconds in the past I have a Postgres table of events with start and end timestamps. I want to create a view that selects all events where the time between the event and now is between 3 and 7 seconds. I am using Postgres 9.2 and cannot modify the structure of the original table. I tried to use a window function with this predicate: where now() - t >= 3 and now() - t = 3 and t - now() = character varying LINE 1:... WHERE t - now() >= 3 and t - now() 3 and t1.time - now() 3 and t1.time - now() < 7 but this produces the error: ERROR: column "t1.time" must appear in the GROUP BY clause or be used in an aggregate function LINE 1: select t1.time - now() as "time_difference", count(*) as "count"...
