Kabhi Khushi Kabhie Gham An Indian 2001 film starring Salman Khan as Ashutosh and Jacqueline Fernandez as Ananya. The film was noted for its most expensive television advertisements ever. The film gave an image change of Khan from his earlier style of films. The film was a critical and commercial success. The music was composed by A. R. Rahman, with lyrics by Javed Akhtar, and there were four songs in the film: "Mera Dil Jiska", "Kabhi Khushi Kabhi Gham", "Paheli Laage" and "Mere Naina" (which is the debut song of Salim-Sulaiman). The length of Kabhi Khushi Kabhi Gham was 227 minutes (in Hindi: ३६६ मिनट ३३३३ मिनट). In 2004, during the Song Picha (2014) - Aashiqui 2 - K3G was nominated for the MTV Movie Award for Song of the Year (Indian Sub-continent). The film was remade in Kannada as Giri with Nagarjuna and in Telugu as Premante Mandiri. Plot Kabhi Khushi Kabhie Gham (literally English: Life is Such a Beautiful Game) is a 2001 Bollywood romantic comedy film directed by Raj Kanchan and produced by Shakuntala, Salman Khan, and Yash Raj Films. It stars Salman Khan, and Jacqueline Fernandez. The film was promoted with a very expensive television commercial campaign, which cost ₹80 crores (US$12 million). The film's tagline was "Who says Love is not Entertainment?". The opening weekend was the highest of all time, with at least $1.25 million more than the previous record holder Dilwale Dulhania Le Jayenge (DDLJ). It was the eighth-highest-grossing film of 2001, according to Box Office India. Salman Khan and Jacqueline Fernandez play two college students who first encounter each other as they travel on the same train from Delhi to Moga, Punjab, India. Salman is on a holiday with his friends (played by Boman Irani and Gulshan Grover), and he encourages his girlfriend, Ananya (Jacqueline Fernandez), to come along as well. They initially get off the train at
