"With today's announcements, Adobe is enabling people to move forward. We are furthering our commitment to customers and our innovative, always evolving product strategy." Working with Adobe Sensei, Photoshop makes several breakthroughs in content-recognition techniques and selection tools, including a brand-new Delete and Fill tool that allows for creation of the desired effect or content without having to manually remove and fill in a large area of an object in an image. Make a selection and click the Content-based Smart Tool, and AI overlays several content areas on an image near where objects are likely
